Bio

Malavita! (The name at least) was conjured up on 21st February 2013 whilst on a flight to Cuba. A culmination of good friends, a love of music and a whole lot of determination set this project in motion many years before, but a chance collision of fresh blood, renewed fire in their bellies and using world music as their inspiration the group was reincarnated as Malavita! Their genre defying sound fuses funky latin beats, heaps of percussion, soaring guitars, skanktastic bass lines, punchy horns and soulful female vocals to create a heady mixture of original, infectious feel good tunes. 8 eclectic, fun seeking musical misfits originating from Italy, France and the Deep South (Westcountry) come together to inspire you to dance, sing along and loose your inhibitions. Collectively on a mission to start the party and keep the dance floor jumping with their festival strength tropical sounds.

The group had a storming 2018, playing the epic Boomtown Fair, Kendall Calling, Port Eliot Festival, Tunes in the Dunes, Rock Oyster Festival, Looe Music Festival , Tropical Pressure and Sunrise festivals. 2019 has seen them take it up a notch, performing in London at the renowned Hootananny's and The Magic Garden, plus supporting the Cat Empire, Molotov Jukebox, The Undercover Hippy and the Electric Swing Circus. This summer sees Malavita! heading for Green man, Truefest, Beautiful days festivals, and many more.

Malavita! released their first EP "we ain't makin biscuits" in 2014 and have since recorded their latest E.P "Flamingo Lingo" at Cube Recording Studios in Cornwall, released in April 2018 and available now across all digital platforms and on beautifully illustrated CD. They have recently started to write, record and produce their next E.P of which their first single "alive in the night" is out now.
